LIGARE APPOINTS WAYNE BYWATER AS GENERAL MANAGER

Ligare is proud to announce the appointment of its new General Manager, Wayne Bywater. Wayne's return is somewhat of a homecoming, having worked for Ligare some 15 years ago, leaving to pursue his management career in other areas of the print industry, and now returning as General Manager.

Wayne has a strong background in print and has held General Management positions for a number of print companies, including both Planet Press and Dominion Colanco. He brings a wealth of knowledge to the role with over 25 years of industry experience.

Wayne is a strong believer in the company's values and passion for print. "I intend to support Ligare with an energetic approach, strong leadership and convey a high level of morality," he commented.

Cliff Brigstocke, former Ligare CEO and now current OPUS Print Group CEO, is excited on welcoming Wayne back to Ligare. "I am confident that Wayne's appointment will ensure the business maintains its reputation for high standards and continues to grow as a founding member of the OPUS Print Group," Brigstocke said.
